

Food & Beverage Industry Solution

The F&B industry is remarkably diverse. Thousands of different products and many types of processes (including fresh, frozen, chilled, and long-shelf-life goods) serve customers ranging from megaretailers to small chains, independent stores, catering services, restaurants, and exporters.

Manufacturers must respond to the demands, manage supply chain processes, and make sure delivery times and schedules are coordinated. Customer demands for fast deliveries and lower costs, together with increasingly stringent government regulations, create many challenges for manufacturers in process industries such as F&B.
